

How would your business cope with computer downtime?

Proven disaster recovery that fits your infrastructure and your budget!

TDReplica

Specifically designed for Windows Small Business Server

What would it cost you if your IT fails? In many critical situations it could take up to two days to get your business up and running again. With TDReplica, your business could continue regardless—even if your critical server fails.

Your Issue

- Your nightly backups are not adequate for your business needs.
- Downtime is extremely expensive for your business.
- Valuable data would be lost if you encountered a disaster between backups.
- You couldn't be without connection to your customers or access critical applications for more than a few hours.

The Solution

TD Replica goes beyond periodic backup solutions to provide businesses continuous data replication to ensure minimal data loss and enable fast recovery from any disaster.

The product continuously captures changes as they happen and replicates those changes to a target server at any location. In the event of a failure, Tiedata can quickly restore all access to applications and data compared to hours or days required to rebuild a server from backup tapes.

TD Replica is based on using proven technology and is used by thousands of customers.

Features

- Continuous Data Replication.
- Replicate to a disaster recovery site as far away from your production server as you like.
- Complete data replication integrity for virtually any application.
- Integrate with your existing backup solution.

The Benefits

- Maximum protection against critical data loss from regional crisis and other disasters.
- Recover from a major disaster within minutes enabling your business to continue operating even if hardware fails.
- Continue working even if your small business server fails, send/receive emails, process sales orders etc..
